Junkie

Let's define the term Junkie to represent the individual for whom society is unknown. The class of undergraduates as those who failed to graduate from kindergarten, to accept other as same. To find awareness. The class who rejects or subverts substance and significance, syntax and semantics, and the methods and means of our sustenance to the destruction of self, other, and society.

The practicing nihilist is a junkie. Every inanity has force of destruction in the mystery of annihilation.

The experience of inanity is the sights and sounds of insanity.

The junkie has rights. However the assertions of the junkie must be ignored. And the accomodation of the junkie must be rejected. Because it is not possible to witness inanity as substance of meaning. It is not possible to ascribe understanding to that communication, to derive meaning from those expressions. It is the imposition of an avaricious greed. It is a tragedy. It is from whence humor is absurd, meaning is transient, and substance is absent.
