

Alex Bergdahl

Monday, 31 May 2021

Extortion

The episodes of abuse turned to explicit threats including the explicit acknowledgement of the threat to displace me. Against a grand, mysterious, spatial acquiescence.

The phone in his hand showed “Darcel”. The threats turned the color of implicit “people” to displace me, with quite a study before being turned to “police”.

“I can’t made heads or tails of a word you say.”.

“That’s extortion.”.

“That’s abuse.”.

These episodes are most colorful. Mine are simple. Staying within the ping pong style of the diatribe.

“I feel like I made the mistake of listening to you.”.

“Wow! Have you ever raped anyone?”.

Somehow, inexplicably, in the end he returned to measure solace and gratitude with professional courtesy. I have the impression that the pattern is expected. That I should record my part, because his part is fairly routine.