In awareness

It is a process of self actualization when we review memory and emotion, when we dream. In these processes of self actualization we review the experience of actuality.

The adoptions and adaptations of the neurology have many perspectives, and many processes. In abstraction beyond physicality we find significant elements of common substance. In metaphysics we identify actualization. And realization.

It is a process of self realization when we find understanding, explore discovery, seek comprehension, and formulate expression. The elements of reality are these products.
