Metaphysical power

The power of self is individual metaphysical power. A capacity for focus. A durability of purpose. A consistency of intent. A constancy of application.

The general concept is the ancient product of education. The modern metaphysical epistemological detail is illumination. Each geographic region and cultural locale has a humanist tradition, which is typically focused on the conservation of life inclusive of environment, and liberty inclusive of independence and interdependence.

Perhaps the most ancient is to be found in Theology. Perhaps the most modern is to be found in Philosophy. Certainly the most practical is to be found in Government.
